FRANK RENAKER TELLS OF BROTHER'S MURDER

Says Motive Is Becoming Understood and Early Arrest May Cause Surprise

Frank Renaker, formerly in charge of the Renaker Produce Co., office here, spent Saturday in Richmond on business and talked with a number of close friends about the mysterious murder of his brother, Leon Renaker, at Winchester early last week.

Mr. Renaker said that the family felt certain of the identity of the murderer and that the evidence against him would be woven tight enough in the next few days to base an arrest on. He told friends also that the motive for the crime seemed to be becoming better understood. It was intimated that when an arrest is made, it will cause a sensation in Winchester and Clark county.

(By Associated Press)

Police announced today that a witness had found in the person of Mrs. H. R. Prather, who saw an automobile with two men leaving the neighborhood of the Renaker home the night Leon Renaker, prominent Winchester man, was murdered. She was awakened by rays from automobile headlights. She heard one man say, "I have finished him," or "It," she could not determine which. Automobile tracks have been found leading from the street up an alley to a thicket near the rear of the Renaker residence.

The theory is Renaker was slain by the handle from an automobile jack. The person who is supposed to own the automobile in question was asked to produce his jack handle. He said he had loaned it to a young man. A pair of trousers were also found in the thicket. They are being examined to determine whether there are blood or oil stains on them.

An additional $3,000 reward was offered today for the apprehension of the murderer. Mrs. Renaker subscribed $2,000 and Renaker's brother, Barry, of Cynthiana, $1,000. The Winchester Sun started the subscription list with an offer of $50. It is expected an additional raise of $1,000 which with the $1,000 already offered by citizens of the county and state will make the total $5,000.

Every clue that has been secured by the officers and detectives is being sifted to the bottom and with the information that has been secured and additional evidence that is thought available, the detectives and officers hope to throw some light on the mystery within the next ten days.

The detectives who have been in this city since last Wednesday night left the city Sunday afternoon, stating that they would return within a few days as soon as the evidence which they had secured had been woven together and they had had time to study the matter over thoroughly.

It is the supposition that the murdered man was struck with the handle, which is detachable from a jack that was in the car which visited the premises. The suspected driver of the car is the son of a prominent farmer of the county. He was queried in regard to the jack in his car and stated that he had loaned the jack out to two boys.

The detectives and officers are confident that the blow which killed Renaker was struck with the handle of an auto jack.

The party who drove the machine, the detectives feel at present, remained on the outside of the home and kept watch while the other man entered the house and committed the murder. That it was premeditated murder the detectives and officers are now confident, since the finding of the stained trousers and that robbery was not the motive, but that after the victim had been slain, what money he had was taken.

The theory is also advanced that the accomplice who was driving the machine did not know the purpose of his partner, but was of the opinion that he was going to rob the murdered man, but instead, his partner went to the home for the sole purpose of committing the murder. Finger prints of a prominent young man were obtained by detectives Sunday afternoon and were sent to Cincinnati to be studied by an expert in this line of work.

An Earlier Story

Winchester, July 31—"I finished him!" This exclamation in a man's voice, evidently directed to a companion, was overheard by a neighbor between 12:30 and 1 o'clock last Monday morning as a mysterious automobile with curtains drawn sped through an unfrequented alley in rear of the home of Leon Renaker, 35 years old, "turkey king," who was slain at his home here, following his return from a visit to relatives in Covington, Ky., and Cincinnati Monday night.

A description of this automobile given by the witness, who was awakened by the glare of the mystery cars' headlights as it flashed into a bedroom, and the piecing together of other bits of circumstantial evidence, has centered suspicion upon two young men prominent in this vicinity, it was revealed today.

This information has been possession of County Attorney Herbert Moore, Chief of Police Jas. S. Mullins, and Detectives Ora Slater and F. L. Curry, of the Clark County Detective Agency, for several days. The evidence has been guarded carefully, but the case now has progressed to such a point, County Attorney Moore said today, that he believed the arrest of the man who has been under suspicion, as well as that of a close friend, may develop within the next 24 hours.

Much depends, he said, upon a comparison of this suspect's finger prints with a photographic record of the tell-tale finger prints in blood left by the murderer of Renaker on a rear screen door as he departed from the residence after wiping his bloodstained hands on a bedroom window curtain.

It is known that the suspect owns an automobile of a make similar to the mystery car seen departing from the scene of the murder, and detectives have found witnesses who declare they saw the murder suspect and his companion in Winchester late on the night of the murder.

In following out the theory that it was this man who committed the deed, detectives and county authorities say they have a motive to advance, but refuse to divulge it except to say that it was not robbery, but was a deliberate, well planned design to slay Renaker.

Both men already have been questioned. While the suspect apparently tells a straightforward story, explaining his movements on the night of the murder, his friend, authorities say, has become confused in explaining certain facts, and, it is declared, has contradicted himself in regard to important details.

Winchester citizens believe that the mysterious murder is well on the way toward solution.

Additional substantiation of the investigators' theory that Renaker was slain by a man who followed him to his home and then departed in an automobile with a male companion, was given to authorities, it is said, by the declaration of the coroner that he believes the jagged wound in Renaker's head which crushed his skull was inflicted with the handle of an automobile jack.

Detectives declare an automobile jack which usually accompanies an automobile of the make similar to the car owned by the suspect would inflict a wound with the characteristics borne by those which crushed Renaker's skull.

Information regarding the mystery car was given to detectives by Mrs. Harry R. Prather, wife of a traveling salesman, who resides with her sister in a house separated from the Renaker residence by an alley which rarely is used by persons or vehicles.

It was between 12:30 and 1 o'clock, Mrs. Prather says, when she was awakened by the rays of an automobile headlight which suddenly flashed into her bedroom. She heard an automobile engine running. Her curiosity was aroused. She arose from her bed and went to the window. She saw in the starlight, the mysterious automobile with curtains closely drawn, speed out of the alley and run onto the lawn of

41 New Contracts For Crops Turned In Last Week—Other Counties Report

Contracts to the number of 650 were reported to the office of the Field Service Division of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association as having been signed the past week, according to a statement given out Saturday at the offices of the Association. Of this number E. M. Mansfield, of Carrollton, led with 161 signed in Adair county. Workers in Hardin county signed up 61 new members, Larue furnished 58, Meade 26, Carroll and Indiana territory across the river 16, Taylor 25, and Fleming county 8.

Madison went to an 85 per cent sign-up Saturday when Albert T. Day, of Maysville, who has been working in this county, turned in 41 contracts. Members of the Association here have been greatly pleased with the increase in the membership made by Mr. Day through personal presentation of the co-operative marketing proposition to the growers of this county.

Officials of the Association express gratification with the gain of more than 500 members a week and say that if these results can be attained without a concerted drive the probability is that, when the district-wide drive is put on, it will end with 99 per cent of the growers of the district in the organization. No report from Huntington, West Virginia, and Western Ohio territory was received Saturday, but this territory has been yielding from 150 to 200 new contracts each week and it was said that the workers probably had signed in that territory more than 175 members since the previous Saturday.

Announcement was made that growers of Taylor county would give a big barbecue and burgo at Campbellsville Saturday, August 12, to which tobacco growers of adjoining counties have been invited, whether members of the Association or not. The farmers are asked to bring their families and spend the day and ample provision for their comfort will be made. Speeches on co-operative marketing will be made by Congressman J. Campbell Cantrell, Judge I. H. Thurman, of Springfield; President and General Manager James C. Stone, and Director of Warehouses Ralph M. Barker, of the Burley Association.

Boy Scouts Go Camping

The Richmond Boy Scout troop left Monday afternoon for Boonesboro for a week's camping. Several older boys went along as chaperones, including Scout Master Pete Hise, Bill Crutcher and Stant Hume. Joe Hayden was taken along as cook and with plenty of eats and other paraphernalia the youngsters expect a fine time. Among those who went were Joe Chenault, R. J. McKee, Jr., Jephtha Thompson, John Phelps, Andrew Wallace, Paul ett, i mmsidAaoffice Pano Paul Jett, Jim Adams, Tom Samuels, Corbin Shrewsbury, Joseph Bosley, and Shelton Saulley, Jr.

Prather Home

As the automobile was turned into the street in front of the Prather home, Mrs. Prather says, she heard a man exclaim: "I finished him!" Mrs. Prather recognized the make of the automobile but did not recognize the occupants of the car.

Detectives have disclosed that the man under suspicion owns a car of similar make. He is the son of a well to do farmer living near Winchester. His boon companion is a resident of Bourbon county, it is said.

There was a large dance in progress in Winchester on the night of the murder. Both men were seen for a short time at this dance. Detectives have the names of other witnesses who say they saw the suspect and his companion on the streets of Winchester later in the night.

The suspect is known to members of the Renaker family. He recently was divorced. So far detectives have not disproved a statement of his movements on the night of the murder.

WOMAN PHYSICIAN FOR JACKSON COUNTY

Miss Georgiana DeJong To Work At Mission Hospital At Gray Hawk, and Mother Too

A dispatch from Omaha, Neb., says that Jackson county, Ky., is to have its first woman medical missionary when Dr. Georgiana DeJong, of Minnesota, now visiting her mother, Mrs. Jeannette DeJong in Minnesota, arrives in that county some time during the first week in August.

Dr. DeJong will be the first woman physician in that county. She will make her headquarters at the Mission Hospital at Gray Hawk, Jackson county, maintained by the Reformed Church of America, and her services will be free to the people of the county.

Miss DeJong, who is quite young unexpectedly found herself near Gray Hawk last winter. She spent Christmas at the Mission and was so impressed by the need of that community for a woman physician that she came home, arranged her affairs and will devote the remainder of her life to work at the Mission. She is so enthusiastic over the prospects that she has persuaded her mother, Mrs. Jeannette DeJong, to accompany her to Gray Hawk, and to spend the remainder of her days in missionary work in Jackson county.

Following her visit to Gray Hawk, Miss DeJong completed an internship at the Women's and Children's Infirmary in New York City.

Asked what diseases will demand most of her attention in her new work, Dr. DeJong said that trachoma, hook worm and pellagra are most prevalent. The hook worm is due to lack of hygienic living, while pellagra is a nutritional disease.

"The people there eat too much corn bread and molasses and they have too little idea of preparing vegetable food," said Dr. DeJong. "Their idea of a hospital is a place to die instead of a place to be cured. We will interest the parents by interesting the children."

"I will be the first woman physician in that part of the country and mountaineers have a stubborn prejudice against woman anywhere outside of the home. They do not ordinarily want to deal with a woman. Woman is expected to keep her place in the home."

Rev. DeJong has been at the head of the Reform church mission school and church at McKee and has done a fine work for people there. Miss DeJong will undoubtedly find a warm welcome awaits her from the good people of Jackson county.

PEACE TERMS SAID TO BE AGREED ON

Railroad Strike Which Has Cost $40,000,000 In Wages Alone, May Soon Be Over

(By Associated Press)

New York, July 31—With 148 railroad executives arriving here for the conference called by President Harding for tomorrow, interest on both sides centered today on a report from Chicago that an agreement had been reached between the striking shopmen and the railroads for settlement of the railroad strike. The report said tomorrow's meeting, both here and in Chicago, where union leaders are gathering, will take formal action of acceptance of the agreement.

Well, It's Over Then

(By Associated Press)

Washington, July 31—His advisors today said President Harding has been assured by Chairman Culver, of the Association of Railway Executives, Vice President Atterbury, of the Pennsylvania railroad, and B. M. Jewell, head of the striking shopmen's organization, that they would support the President's proposals for immediate ending of the railroad strike.

Secretary Hoover said today the railway workers should be back on the job within 48 hours after the strike is settled but declined to comment on the prospects of settlement.

Secretary of labor Davis expressed confidence the coal strike would be settled through direct conferences between the operators and miners' representatives with no further move on the part of the government.

Sunday Night's Report.

Chicago, July 31—Peace terms already have been agreed to in the country-wide railway strike and formal ratification has been assured through President Harding's efforts, it was asserted last night by a man in close official touch with the situation.

All that now remains before the strike, which has cost the workers upwards of $40,000,000 in wages, passed into history, it was asserted, was the formal endorsement of the terms of settlement by the railway executives, meeting in New York, and the strike leaders who will convene in Chicago at the same hour.

"The acceptance of President Harding's proposal was a foregone conclusion before T. Dewitt Cuyler  issued the call for the meeting of the rail executives in New York and Bert Jewell, head of the striking shopmen summoned a similar meeting of union chiefs for the same date," this man, who has been in closest touch with the entire situation, declared.

"The rail executives will finally decide to yield for the good of the country, sweeping as the seniority issue," he continued, "but their gesture will give little consolation to the men who walked out on July 1, for besides their loss in pay, they will lose some of their seniority rights to the men who remained at work, see their original grievances returned to the United States Railroad Labor Board for rehearing and the question of a national adjustment board and certain other points taken up by Congress."

A Short Cut To Berea

Travelers to Berea will find that they can save the long detour by Bobtown or Menelaus by passing through the farm of Green Durham at Kingston, Mo. Durham has opened up a roadway through his place, from the Kingston to Berea pike, and it is proving quite a convenience to motorists and other travelers. He is charging a small fee of 25c per car and says that those who realize the short cut possible, are more than glad to pay this charge. The regular pike will be closed for sometime while the bridge is being built over Hayes' Fork.

GOVERNMENT STARTS ITS COAL WORK

(By Associated Press)

Washington, July 31—The government machinery for the emergency distribution of coal swung into gear today as the central committee with Henry B. Spencer, federal fuel distributor, as administrative head, began functioning under the program devised to supply coal to industries and localities where most needed and to maintain fair price levels at the mines. A slow recovery in production is shown in the reports of the geological survey for the week. The gain was about 200,000 tons to a total of 3,900,000 tons.

WON'T TELL WHY SHE STARVES SELF

Mt. Vernon, Ky., July 31—Mrs. Betty Coffey, 88 years old, has fasted 48 days and is near death at the home of her niece near Humble Grove church, five miles from here. But as yet she has refused to reveal her reason for refusing to eat.

Occasionally Mrs. Coffey calls for water and almost daily has taken a few swallows of black coffee. Several times relative forced food into her mouth but she promptly ejected it. Two pints of buttermilk is all the nourishment she has taken.

A persistent smoker for years, Mrs. Coffey now occasionally calls for her clay pipe and tobacco and smokes. For years it had been her custom each day to chew a small quantity of calamus root.

When she began her fast relatives and neighbors sat up nights with her, but for some time the family has been going to bed and usually no watch has been kept. She sleeps more than she formerly did. A Coffey before her marriage, she came to Rockcastle county from Tennessee with her family when she was a small child. Two older brothers died in their eighties. She has been a widow without children for many years.

DANVILLE WINS AGAIN BY NARROW MARGIN

And Makes Richmond Golfers Like It By Magnificence of Hospitality

The only regret that the members of the Richmond Golf Club could have about their trip to Danville Saturday would be that they can never repay the hospitality that was extended them by the members of the Danville club. Although defeated by the Danville team one-up on the six matches, the local players acquitted themselves better than they had expected and returned home with the expectation of going after the rudiments of the game even harder than ever and make every effort to develop class enough among the local members so that the Richmond club can hold her own with the other clubs in the inter-city matches which will be played in the future.

The Richmond club was represented by the following players: Harvey Chenault, Hart Perry, J. Preston Smith, L. B. Weisenburg, Clyde Darrow, Harold Odham, J. J. Greenleaf, who were paired with the following Danville players in two-somes: Chenault vs. Capt. Massey; Perry vs. Richardson; Smith vs. McRoberts; Weisenburg vs. Briggs; Darrow vs. Dean; Odham vs. Myers, while Greenleaf did not play in the match. Perry, Darrow and Odham, managed to come through with a tie match, while Weisenburg and Chenault were defeated and Smith defeated McRoberts one-up, which gave the Danville club the match with one-up. The Danville course is on the old Quisenberry estate just on the edge of the city, while not so long a course as the local one, is rather a sporty course, with all the greens built up and in excellent condition, which was a bit of a handicap to the local players. The old home has been reconstructed into a nifty club house with showers, etc., and a No. 1 tee there had been placed refreshments which were served by the young ladies of Danville. One popular feature, noticed by the writer was a large putting green with something like a dozen holes which had been placed around the No. 1 tee, for putting practice and tournaments are held on this green at various intervals.

Immediately after the tournament, the party was taken to the Danville Elks Club where a very elaborate buffet luncheon was served. Following the luncheon the party was invited around to the home of George McRoberts, who had prepared a special entertainment for the guests and as one member of the Richmond party said "Taint no use talking—that McRoberts feller knows how to entertain,"—which is a pretty good expression for the whole crowd, and it will be a long day before the party forgets the good time extended by Mr. McRoberts, and the rest of the Danville members who were instrumental in passing out the hospitality to the Richmond players.

It is hoped that as soon as the Richmond course has been put in better condition that these inter-city matches will be played regularly, and it is certain that another invitation will be extended to the Danville club, as they now stand, two matches to nothing on Richmond.

The shelter house being constructed on Richmond grounds will be completed within the next week or two and the plans are now on foot to start the course with No. 1 tee at No. 3 just off the club house entrance, and thereby lengthening the course up to 3,000 yards. The greens will be worked over and with these improvements the local course will be the pride of the city and will rank with the leading nine-hole courses in the country. Following these improvements, the local club expects to extend invitations to all the nearby clubs, more especially the Danville club who have acquitted themselves so very creditably in this last tournament.

SOME DAIRIES ENDANGER HEALTH

(By Associated Press)

Frankfort, Ky., July 31—That some persons in the dairy business "are either ignorant of how dairies should be conducted or are wilfully violating the law and endangering public health," is the assertion made by Henry E. James, State Inspector and Examiner, in his report to Gov. E. P. Morrow on the receipts, expenditures, general management, and conduct of the Department of Foods, Drugs and Hotels. This report which covers the period from July 1, 1920, to June 30, 1922, was made public here today.

"It is alarming to know that certain dairies in certain counties are being operated upon such a low basis as to produce milk that is ridiculously impure and hazardous to public health," the report continues.

Mr. James says in his report that he is "pleased and heartily approves" of the addition of the dairy inspector, E. F. Worthington, who "has demonstrated by dairy exposures in certain counties that he has visited, that he is performing a very great service."

Discussing hotels, foods and drugs, the report asserts that while the sanitary conditions of many of the smaller hotels and restaurants in both cities and towns, as shown by the records, are not what they should be, they do show that there has been a gradual and material improvement.

Mr. James asserts that "we must insist that more aggressiveness and firmness be injected into the inspectors by the director of this department. We have no special reason for complaint, but evidences are to be heard everywhere of a general laxness. We have largely gotten rid of the disturbances caused in this line of business by the world war, the report continues, but adds: "We do not believe that the service in this line is anything like what it should be. In fact, for several months there has been little real inspection going on and that in an indifferent and slipshod manner."

"While the examiner does not mean to say that the inspectors have not made a great number of visits and filed reports on a great number of places, he does not mean to say that from what the records show and what he has been told he does not believe that a sufficiently aggressive and firm attitude has been assumed."

The report declares that the only way to obtain results in hotel and restaurant improvements is to issue the order while on the ground, showing exactly what is wanted done "and go about it in a way that will show that you mean it. Return visits should be made to see if instructions have been carried out."

C. S. Porter and E. B. Weitzel, inspectors of hotels, restaurants, drugs and foods, cover practically the entire state, says the report.

Receipts during the period covered by the report totaled $19,429.16 and expenditures amounted to $23,430.20.

For the calendar year of 1920 the following formal inspections were made:

200 bakeries; 71 bottling plants; 22 creameries; 38 dairies; 16 grocery stores; 1,124 hotels; 1,335 restaurants; 4 slaughter houses; and 48 soda fountains.

In 1921 inspections were made as follows: 86 bakeries; 31 bottling plants; 18 creameries; 48 dairies; 96 grocery stores; 1,268 hotels; 1,704 restaurants; 13 soda fountains; 35 slaughter houses; 6 food factories; 5 ice plants; 13 ice cream plants; 14 produce houses; and 13 patent medicine manufacturers.

When Two Dams Broke

Damage done to houses and to the Boston & Maine Railroad at Millmansett, Mass., when two dams broke is estimated at $1,000,000. The dam of Langwald Pond burst. When the water swept into Robert's pond below, that dam collapsed. The overturned auto shows the force of the water.

"WHY ANNOUNCE YOUR MARRIAGE?"

Would marriage be more successful if husbands and wives had separate establishments? Is social life a menace to the happiness of the home? Can there be a true marriage without a home and children? Is marriage the private affairs of two people, or should it conform to the conventional rules of society? Should a woman abandon her career? These and other interesting questions solved in this pathetic little story.

Mrs. B. E. Belue Company

Perry-Thompson
Her host of friends were given a delightful surprise when news came from Lexington Monday of the wedding of Miss Bettie McCann Perry, lovely daughter of Dr. and Mrs. G. G. Perry, to Ira Drake Thompson, of Paris.

The nuptials were the happy culmination of a romantic courtship, which has been kept more or less secret from the many friends of the popular young couple. They took only a few of their most intimate friends into their plans. The bride left home Monday morning ostensibly to meet some friends at Boonesboro bathing beach. From there she went to Lexington, however, where she was joined by Mr. Thompson and the ceremony performed. Mrs. Thompson is one of the most popular members of Richmond's younger social set, while her husband is a member of one of Bourbon county's most prominent families. He is said to be a splendid young man with great promise. Friends all over the Blue Grass will extend congratulations and good wishes. The bridal pair are expected here at once before making plans for a wedding trip.

Birthday Dinner

A surprise birthday dinner was given Jerre B. Noland by Mrs. Noland at their home on the Barnes Mill pike Thursday. The house was decorated with cut flowers and ferns. The color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the dining room and covers were laid for twenty-two. A huge white cake with pink candles formed the center of the table. An elaborate dinner was served to fifty people. The guests were immediate relatives, including his sisters and brothers, with a large number of nieces and nephews of the Noland family in this county.

Dinner at Carefree Camp

Mr. J. R. Smith, Mesdames M. Stout, M. Slade, E. Douglas, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Smith and daughter Mary Margaret, of Lexington, motored out to Carefree Cabin, near Boonesboro, for a birthday dinner given in honor of Mrs. J. R. Smith by the campers, Mesdames John Allman, Richmond; Harry Heisands, Will Wisengarver, of Champaign, Ill.; Miss Carrie Allman, Richmond; Estelle Smith, C. O. Smith, Harold Smith, Rodes Feedback, Mrs. J. R. Smith and James Allman, Lexington Leader.

Beautiful Tea

Mrs. W. D. Oldham and Mrs. Harold Oldham entertained entertained Saturday afternoon from 4 to 6 with a tea at their home on Lancaster avenue in compliment to Mrs. Ronald Oldham, who leaves soon to make her home in Louisville. This was one of the beautiful parties of the summer. On the lawn under an artistic arch punch was served the guests as they arrived by Mrs. S. J. McGaughey and Mrs. W. P. Mc-

Common Sense About Eczema and Eruptions!

Here's Something About S. S. S. That You'll Be Glad to Hear.

You might just as well know it right now—the cause of skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads, boils and so on, is right in the blood. There is no getting away from it. Science has proved it. We prove it. You can prove it. When the cause of skin troubles and eruptions is in the blood, it isn't com-

Let S. S. S. Give You An Angeli Skin! Common sense to simply treat the skin. A bottle of S. S. S. will prove to you what is happening in your blood. S. S. S. is a scientific blood cleanser—it drives out the impurities which cause eczema, tetter, rash, pimples, boils, blackheads, blotches, eruptions, and other skin troubles. When these impurities are driven out, you can't stop several very nice things from happening. Your lips turn naturally rosy. Your eyes sparkle, your complexion clears. It becomes beautiful. Your face looks like that of a prosperous, happy, well-to-do, refined gentleman, or if you are a woman, your complexion becomes the real kind that the whole world so admires. S. S. S. is also a powerful body-builder, because it builds new and more blood-cells. That's why it fills out sunken cheeks, bony necks, thin limbs, helps regain lost flesh. It costs little to have this happen to you. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size is the more economical.

lard. In the hall and parlor pink roses and gladiolas were used in decoration which made a pretty scene for the receiving line. Mrs. W. D. Oldham received first in a beautiful white taffeta gown with a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Harold Oldham was attractive in pink taffeta and Mrs. Ronald Oldham was gowned in pekin blue chiffon over white satin. A yellow and white color scheme was carried out in decorations and refreshments in the dining room where deliahs and gladiolas were profuse in artistic arrangement. The hosts were assisted in entertaining by Mesdames R. E. Turley, John Arnold, A. R. Denny, Julian Tyng, Joel Park, Misses Elizabeth Farley and Zelia Rice. About 200 guests called during the hours.

Welcoming Daughter

Friends will be interested in the following announcement. Mrs. Dickson visited here often before her marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley S. Dickson, of North Middletown, are receiving congratulations on the arrival of a daughter who was born at the Good Samaritan Hospital, Lexington, Wednesday morning, July 26th, and many friends are interested in her welfare.

Mrs. Dickson was, before her marriage, Miss Mildred Collins, of Paris, a graduate from University of Kentucky and a charming and popular member of the Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity.

Director Is Chef-ing

E. Mason Hopper, the Goldwin director, who made "Dangerous Curve Ahead!" and "The Glorious Fool," which will be shown at the local theatres Tuesday is as famous in his social circle for chef-ing as he is well known among directors for his motion picture productions. When guests arrive at the Hopper home, as often as not they find him in a white mother Hubbard putting about the kitchen. That is always a prelude to an especially fancy meal; and his friends say that the world may know him for his directing but they are satisfied to know him for his cooking.

You Should See "Life"

According to all accounts, "Life," the big William A. Brady-Paramount melodrama picture which will be the feature at the local theatres Tuesday, is well worth seeing. It is a genuine thriller of the old school, and the production is said to be one of the most massive and entertaining of the current season.

KENTUCKY WHEAT IS BADLY MIXED

Lexington, Ky., July 31—The majority of seed wheat sown in Kentucky during the last year has been a mixture of three or more varieties, according to Ralph Kenney, member of the College of Agriculture agronomy department. This factor, no doubt, has contributed to the low yields which have been obtained in some sections of the state. Pure seed invariably yields higher than a mixture of several strains, he added.

"At the present time, seed from Ashland, the new pedigreed and high yielding variety developed at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station, is the purest to be found in the state. Despite the wide distribution of this strain over Kentucky, an inspection of 96 fields of it during the present summer showed that it contained less than one per cent of any other wheat in nine out of every ten fields where it was grown.

"In Central Kentucky where a considerable Fultz wheat is grown, actual counts made this summer showed that wheat seen purchased under the name of Fultz contained as much as 30 per cent to 40 per cent bearded red chaff and about 20 per cent bearded white chaff. Of the remaining 40 to 50 per cent, at least half of it was found to be smooth red chaff wheat.

"In Todd, Christian and Logan counties, located in southwestern Kentucky, where Gill wheat is popular, this variety, although perhaps pure at one time, was found to contain 86 per cent smooth red chaff wheat of which one-half or more was of an early May variety.

SWIFT PRODUCE REVIEW

Butter production is still running large, indicating good pasture conditions and a large number of cows on the farms. The demand for butter for consuming purposes is heavy, which is maintaining the market at about recent levels. The amount going into cold storage also is heavier than for the same period a year ago.

Egg values have worked materially lower in the past week, especially in the large cities, due to some accumulation, as dealers evidently are not interested in storing any further quantities, on account of the unusually heavy stocks now in warehouses. The present lower values if passed on the consumer should bring about very heavy demand with healthier conditions.

The marketing of live fowls is still running heavy, indicating that the supply available is large. Prices are working lower.

The increased offering of spring chickens is having the effect of reducing prices in the large consuming centers, and the prospects are that on account of the heavy crop prices will be on a conservative basis.

A Slight Error

A telegram from High Bridge to some of the dailies says that a negro woman expelled from her stomach four frogs and a tadpole after being given an emetic. This is an error. It was four sawlogs and a circus pole. Strange that papers cannot state the truth.—Jessamine Journal.

NEW JUDGE TALKS ON LAW ENFORCEMENT

(By Associated Press)
Manchester, Ky., July 31—Circuit Judge A. T. W. Manning, successor of the late Judge Hiram Johnson, in the 28th judicial district, will continue Judge Johnson's active law enforcement campaign and will bring the "bad man" of Clay, Jackson and Laurel counties to justice, he today told the Associated Press. "The supremacy of the law, as established by Judge Johnson, must be maintained and that is what I am preparing and intend to do as judge of this district," he declared.

"The mountains of Eastern Kentucky have long been regarded as the land of feudists, moonshiners, bootleggers and outlaws," the new judge said. "Statewide and national prohibition laws tended greatly to increase the illicit manufacture and sale of liquor throughout this section.

"There is nothing which contributes as generously to feuds and other forms of lawlessness and viciousness among our people as does liquor," Judge Manning asserted. "Judge Johnson recognized this fact and waged a campaign of law enforcement, declaring that the circuit judge is the chief officer of the district charged with the duty of enforcing the laws."

"The issue was simply stated: 'Shall the feudist, moonshiner, bootlegger and outlaw, or shall the law be supreme in this district?' In six months as circuit judge of the 27th judicial district of Kentucky, Judge Johnson demonstrated to the citizenship of the district and to the entire world the supremacy of the law.

"He was a great man and a great jurist, and he accomplished a wonderful work in a wonderful way. I have no intention of deviating from the course pursued by my illustrious predecessor. We still have some moonshine stills; there yet remain some bootleggers and so-called 'bad men' who must be made to feel the power of the law and acknowledge fealty to it. There are yet in our borders clans of desperadoes, near feudists, who would like to terrorize the country, its citizenship, and the court and they must be brought to justice and made to realize the saving grace of the law's restraint through the administration of its punishments."

HEARD ABOUT TOWN

Joe Price Hemphill, B. Y. Willis, and Van Cleave Stears, of Nicholasville, were contestants in the aquatic carnival at Dix river yesterday afternoon and carried off their share of honors. The Jessamine visitors made some excellent records in the events and received much applause from the crowd that gathered on the banks to witness the sport. The promoters of the carnival are very grateful to the Nicholasville young men for the part they had in making the affair a decided success.—Danville Messenger.

Kinnaird in Big Raid

William Kinnaird, of Lancaster, who is well known here, was in the raid night before last in Louisville, when the Revenue officials killed Harry Baker, who was formerly a police lieutenant of Louisville. Mr. Kinnaird has made an exceptionally fine revenue man and has been in some daring raids since he entered the service. He grew so bold and fearless that he was called into the office of Collector Lucas and given desk work, fearing that some mishap might befall him, but he heard of the above raid and went into it regardless of consequences, says the Danville Advocate.

COLORED COLUMN

(W. B. Chenault)

A Tribute To Miss Bennett

On Thursday evening, July 20, while seated in A. M. E. church enjoying the program of the Christian Endeavor convention, I was shocked and saddened by the announcement by Dr. J. Acton, Hill, of Louisville, of the death of Madison county's most prominent citizen, Miss Belle H. Bennett; and I desire to lay on memory's altar this brief tribute of esteem. Not only have her own people suffered a great loss, but the colored people of Madison county have lost a friend whose place can not be filled. With malice toward none, but charity for all, she went about doing good, and although her life was crowded with activities, she always had time to consider the needs of colored people. She believed in their latent possibilities and from her high place in life reached down a tender hand of sympathy and encouragement; and whether as president of the Madison county colored chautauqua, which she organized and set in motion, or as chairman of our county inter-racial committee, or as inspector of colored schools, she was the same big-hearted, sincere, generous soldier of Christ and was so filled with his spirit that whatever she had to say was listened to with reverence, and her points were always well taken. Last summer accompanied by a few friends, she drove down to my place and invited me to go with them to visit some colored schools, and I remember how with bright eyes and happy faces the children always straightened up when she appeared; and how she enjoyed their simple exercises, and bade them farewell with a word of encouragement. The negro race deplors the passing of this good woman, who takes her place in history with Esther, Ruth, and Florence Nightingale, as one of the world's great women.—Henry A. Laine.
